

Art History Bibliographies - Botticelli

- Gloria Fossi. The Uffizi Gallery. Art History Collections, Florence: Giunti, 2006.
- Hein-Th. Schulze Alcappenberg (ed.). Sandro Botticelli. The Drawings for Dante's Divine Comedy, London: Royal Academy, 2000.
- Daniel Arasse and Pierluigi De Vecchi (eds.). Botticelli from Lorenzo the Magnificent to Savonarola, Milan and London: Skira and Thames and Hudson, 2003.
- Umberto Baldini. Primavera. The Restoration of Botticelli's Masterpiece, translated by Mary Fitton, New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1986.
- Michael Levey. Botticelli: The Complete Paintings, London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1970.
- Mirella Levi d'Ancona. Botticelli's "Primavera": A Botanical Interpretation Including Astrology, Alchemy, and the Medici, Florence: L.S. Olschki, 1983.
- Frank Zöllner. Botticelli. Images of Love and Spring, translated by Fiona Elliott, Munich, London, New York: Prestel, 1998.

Classical and later texts relative to specific works by Botticelli.

- Leon Battista Alberti (1435). On Painting and On Sculpture. The Latin Texts of De Pictura and Der Statua, edited with translations by Cecil Grayson, London: Penguin Books, 1972. [2.45 and 3.54, pp.87, 97.]
- Martianus Capella (AD 40). Martianus Capella and the Seven Liberal Arts, two volumes, including The Marriage of Philology and Mercury, translated by W.H. Stahl and Richard Johnson, 1977, New York: Columbia University Press, 1971-1977.
- Marsilio Ficino (1484). De amore. Commentary on Plato's Symposium, translated by Sears Jayne, Connecticut: Spring Publications, ca. 1985. [5.8.]
- Hesiod (active 750-650 BCE). The Homeric Hymns and Homerica, translated by Hugh G. Evelyn-White, London: Heinemann, 1914. [174-201.]
- Horace (65 BCE-8 BCE). Ode no.1 in Carpe diem: Horace Odes I, edited and translated by David West, New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. p.143.
- Lucian of Samosata. Lucian: a Selection, edited by Neil Hopkinson, Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2008.
- Lucius Apleius (AD 125-AD 180). The Golden Asse, translated by William Adlington (1566), London: Simpkin Marshall, 1922, reprinted 1930.
- Lucretius (ca. 99 BCE-55 BCE). On the Nature of Things, translated by Martin Ferguson Smith, Indianapolis and Cambridge: Hackett, 2001. [5.737-740, 1.18-23, 1.28-46.]
- Ovid (43 BCE-AD 17 or 18). Fasti, translated by Anne and Peter Wiseman, Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2013. [5.193-214.]
- Angelo Poliziano (1476-78). Stanza per la Giosta. [i.40.] cited in Panofsky, Renaissance, p.193.
- Seneca (ca. 4 BCE-AD 65). De Beneficiis, Volume III, Moral Essays Volume III, translated by John W. Basore, London and Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1935. [1.3.2-7.]
- Virgil (70 BCE-19 BCE). The Aeneid, translated by Robert Fagles, New York &c.: Viking, 2006. [4.242-246.]